

You just don't get it
You're on my mind
Can't be distracted
Can't press rewind
You just don't get it
What I feel inside
Trying to ignore it
Leaves me unsatisfied

We're on the same page
We know it's no good
Throw these thoughts out the window like we should
But they gravitate somewhere out of reach
Guess my feelings have control of me

And if the planet
Were to crash and burn
I'd still be here dreaming
Don't be concerned
I'm just, at this moment, preoccupied
By this image I have of you and I

You just don't get it
I'm falling apart
You don't have to be present
To feel my heart
Goes a mile per minute
Cause I can't comprehend
Why you consume so much of it
You just don't get it. . . I can't pretend

We're on the same page
We know it's no good
Throw these thoughts out the window like we should
But they gravitate somewhere out of reach
Guess my feelings have control of me

I can't focus
My head is spinning
I can't focus
You have me searching
For a reason that I feel the way I do
Cause I'm constantly thinking of you
