

I need to feel
Something real
Beneath the surface
I need to do this.
I'll take some chances
Make some mistakes
To find a link between
What's real and fake.

And if along the way
I seem disoriented
It's cause I'm questioning
If you really meant it.
Do the things you say
Have an ounce of truth
Is the way I interpret it
Make me different from you?
I need to feel something new

Don't you understand
What it's like
To not know who I am
Just doesn't feel right.
I want to feel substance
I want to feel depth
I want to feel purpose
I still don't feel it yet

Don't know who to trust
Should I open up
Or just hide away like a recluse
If I try to explain
And it's all in vain
Should I keep trying;
What's the use?

But I still need to feel
Something real
Beneath the surface
I need to do this
I'll take some chances
Make some mistakes
To find a link between
What's real and fake.